Car Stalls And is Hit

Lake County Sheriff's office recently reported that an accident occurred in Lake Villa last Monday at 9:28 p.m. which involved two persons.

Ed Gorga, 41, of Lake Villa, was trying to start his car on Granada Drive, just south of Rte. 132, when Richard Collignon, 45, also of Lake Villa, ran into him.

Gorga told deputies that he was trying to save the battery in starting the car and had turned off his lights to do so. Collignon claimed he did not see Gorga and ran into him. No citation was issued to either party.

Sticker Sale Is Increased

The sale of Antioch car stickers for automobiles owned by village residents has reached a present total of 239, according to Village Clerk Clarence Shultis.

Shultis stated that this number was comparatively good in light of previous years. He went on to add that since the start of May when stickers were to be purchased, the emblems sold reached an over-expected proportion.

Residents tardy in the purchase of the stickers, Shultis said, would be given a two-month grace period in which to apply at the village hall. The stickers are mandatory to all persons owning a car who live within the corporate limits of the village.

Cost of the stickers is $5 per year with a $2 penalty for tardiness. Shultis urged all resident car owners to obtain their stickers before the end of June.

Approximately 100 of the 114 Post Offices in the three county area of Cook, Lake and DuPage are affected by the instruction to establish window service on Wednesday afternoon. The remaining 14 offices have already established the service previously.

It is anticipated that the cost of the additional service will be absorbed, wherever possible, within present budget funds by re-scheduling personnel.

Scott concluded by saying, "I think the law is a fair time to be home, but, in a way, 16 years old would be a fair age, too."—Judy Vejvoda, age 17.

Goat Needed For Teahouse

Kenneth Smouse, director of the "Teahouse of the August Moon" production scheduled for opening on June 22 and 23, recently stated that he was in dire need of various "props."

Since the play deals with the occupation army of the south seas after the end of World War II, helmets of that period are required along with two sets of captain's bars and a set of a colonel's gold eagles. Uniforms are also needed.

Presenting somewhat of a problem is a necessary prop in the form of a female nanny goat, fairly tame and accessible a week before the production.

Smouse explained that the goat would have to be oriented to stage noises and situations before opening night.

Three children, of comparatively dark complexion, are also needed in rounding out the cast. The children must be between the ages of 9 and 11. Parents or children interested should contact Smouse at his home.

Auditions will be held tonight (Thursday) and Friday at 7:30 in the auditorium. Anyone in the community is invited to participate. There are several openings for set designers and scenery workers.

The original production of "Teahouse" was in 1953 on Broadway and starred David Wayne as the comical Sakini and John Forsythe.

Representatives from the various civic, veterans and executive groups in Antioch will meet at the Antioch Fire Station on Monday, May 21, at 8 p.m. to further discuss with the Red Cross the program on Water Safety, First Aid and nurses Training.

The Regit awards, which poked good-natured fun at several members of the club, were made by the president of Regit International, John B. Fields, whose garb was of a special and undisclosed style for the event.

Speaker at the next Lions Club meeting on June 11 will be Lt. Col. Holliday of the army.

P. O. is Open Wednesdays

Antioch Postmaster Roy I. Kufalk, today announced that effective immediately the Antioch Post Office will provide window service to its postal patrons on WEDNESDAY afternoon.

The new service will discontinue the long established practice of closing the Post Office on WEDNESDAY afternoon in keeping with general retail business suspension on WEDNESDAY.

The establishment of the new service, on instructions from Donald L. Swanson, Chicago Regional Director, Post Office Department, comes as a result of studies carried out in the past several months and expressions from business which indicate that where window service was resumed on WEDNESDAY afternoon, the additional service received wide popular acceptance and the business transacted made it imperative that full service be rendered on WEDNESDAY in the future.

In establishing the new service, Swanson stated that it was "in keeping with the policy of Postmaster General J. Edward Day to provide better and more adequate postal service for postal patrons."

Approximately 100 of the 114 Post Offices in the three county area of Cook, Lake and DuPage are affected by the instruction to establish window service on Wednesday afternoon. The remaining 14 offices have already established the service previously.

Lake Villa Cars Crash

A two-car accident took place last Sunday at Engle Drive, according to the Lake County Sheriff's office.

Larrie W. Daner, 17, of Deep Lake Road was proceeding west when Peter Vandy, 79, who was going east, struck his car. Vandy, according to Daner did not stop and continued to his home where Daner followed him. Vandy stated that he did not leave the scene of the accident until Daner threatened a fight.

Both cars were damaged by the crash but no injuries were sustained by either party. No ticket was issued due to the confusing versions of the accident told sheriff's deputies.

Pupils Voice Protest Against Local Curfew

In their recent adjourned meeting last week, the Village Board passed a curfew law for the village of Antioch which adopts the regulations of the Lake County Curfew Law presently in effect.

Basically the curfew restricts children under the age of 18, unless accompanied by a parent or guardian, from being on any public road, street, alley or park or in any public place of business or amusement in the village after 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 11:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights. The curfew stands weekly on all days until 6 a.m. in the morning.

Legal holiday curfew time will be that of the Friday and Saturday night curfew.

Hardest-hit after one infraction and warning of the law, will be the parents. Those parents, who have received one warning of their child breaking the curfew will appear, after the second infraction, before a Lake County Court Judge and be subject to fine upwards to $100.

Mayor M. Cunningham stated that he believed that "this law should be rigidly enforced. All shows and activities are out by the time this curfew is in effect." The Mayor pointed out that Antioch's curfew adopted the same measures laid down by the County curfew. He added "the reason why the county introduced this curfew was because of excessive trouble with youths in the area after hours."

Chief of Police Walter Scott felt that the curfew was "a good law." He stated that he "wanted it. I've been fighting for it."

When asked about the law's significance to both teenager and parent, Scott said "after one warning, it will mean money to the parent."

Scott concluded by saying,

Lions Slate Golf Match

The Antioch Lions Club, with President Dr. Albert Burcar presiding, inducted 10 new members into their organization last Monday night at their regular every-other-week meeting.

New members taken into the club were Elroy Anderson, Richard Erickson, Carl Schiesser, Willis Filatreault, Wesley Camp, Ward Lear, Fred Walpole, James Carlson, Art Meyer and Gordon Molgard.

The dinner meeting, held at Paty's Lounge at 7:30 p.m., drew over 50 members and guests.

A report was given by William Seemann on the club's participation in the summer Festival to be held here in Antioch during the week of July 4th.

Ray Lorenz, Jr., announced that the Lions - sponsored Spring Golf Tournament would be held this year at the Spring Valley Golf Club, May 23. There is a dinner scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on that date and tee-off time for the event is at 1 p.m.

The Regit awards, which poked good-natured fun at several members of the club, were made by the president of Regit International, John B. Fields, whose garb was of a special and undisclosed style for the event.

"I think they're (village board) smart to go along with the county in the same law."

He also stated that the curfew would be rigidly enforced in the village.

Supt. A. L. Dittman, of Antioch Township High School, remarked that he was "certainly in favor of it. This is something we've needed and we will help to support it."

Dittman reported that a student curfew pass, not provided for within the law itself, would be used by students attending rare activities prolonged after the curfew in hopes that the law enforcement officers would make allowances.

As principal of the high school, Dittman felt that "the time restriction is good. There's nothing wrong with the time element."

After interviewing several students while at school, an Antioch News reporter discovered that the majority of comments made upon the new curfew did not express approval.

Here are some of the comments:

"Why should a person have to wait until he's 18 to be out on the road by himself? I don't think this curfew is right."—Dennis Besow, age 17.

"If they enforce this law to the limit, I feel it's rotten. A majority is suffering for the minority. I personally feel that I can conduct myself in a manner that's not going to get me in trouble. I think they should apply this law with discretion."—Stephen Chandler, president of the Student Council, age 17.

"I think the law is quite restrictive. Six o'clock in the morning doesn't seem right. Many kids go walking at that time in this area. The law should allow for that. I think it will cause a lot of trouble."—Robert Krieger, age 17.

"I think this is a fair time to be home, but, in a way, 16 years old would be a fair age, too."—Judy Vejvoda, age 17.

"My father set down the rule that I should be in and I obey him."—Karen Silianoff, age 16.

"I think it's right. You'll get in more trouble if you stay out later."—Bonnie Faust, 14.

"It's good in some ways but in summer, no. I think there should be a way to obtain passes for something like this. For instance, most carnivals in the summer don't even get started until 10:30."—Al Pedersen, age 17.

"This law really isn't clear to a lot of kids. The village should inform the parents."—Mary Kay Jarvis, 18.

"I think it's a good idea—gives them something to think about. Exceptions such as the proms have to be considered."—Carole Sisson, 16.

Memorial Day Parade Ready

John L. Horan, of the American Legion Post of Antioch, recently reported that a Memorial Day Program, which includes a parade, is reaching final planning stages.

The parade will assemble, according to Horan, at the high school at 1 p.m. on May 30. Floats, bands and marchers appearing in the parade will overflow from the school's north side parking lot into the Strang Funeral Home lot while in the process of being organized.

The actual marching formation of the parade will be on Chestnut Street at 1:30 p.m. Move-off time is scheduled for 1:40 p.m. The parade will then proceed down Main Street to Orchard Street, coming to a halt in front of the platform which will be situated near the pump house.

At the parade's termination, estimated to be around 2 p.m., a short program will be held at the platform site.

The parade and program is sponsored jointly by the Antioch VFW and American Legion Posts.

The No-Back-Down Policy

The United States move into Laos is a primary example of the Kennedy "show-of-force." In order to check the Red Menace of marauding communist bands from flowing over the Thailand border from Viet-Nam.

This move on the government's part naturally supersedes any authorization or approval of the United Nations which has been sitting idly by during the communist infiltration of the orient.

The government is to be commended, at least, for its prompt action and lack of hesitancy in going to the aid of a peaceful and unarmed minor country.

With the situation in Thailand today, the communist threat of invasion at hand, we may now see more clearly the past events of ten years in which the communist takeover has captured half the world into a red brand of bondage.

The United Nations, becoming yearly a bureaucracy of red tape, endless arguments and confused organization, is no longer capable, similar to that great misadventure the League of Nations, of rendering peaceful solutions to communist demands against the free world.

The fall of China in 1946, the loss of the Balkan countries, East Germany, Poland, Korea, Viet-Nam and Hungary in 1956 are incidents which point out the futility of the United Nations to prevent the outbreak of tyrannical power-seizures.

The United States, now neck-in-neck with a world power with Russia, has assumed once again world leadership in halting the Red tide of oppression and dictatorship with the movement of Marines to Thailand.

A gamble is, however, being played. The Reds may react as they did in Korea and pour in their oriental legions against our troops, calling, perhaps, for another of the so-called "police actions" that was Korea.

If this eventuality comes to pass, we will be forced into a military commitment as grave as that of Korea.

Nevertheless, when a free country is threatened, be it Thailand or any other country, it is our obligation to protect its interests, its peoples and its government.

This the United States has done. May this policy continue over the world.

Your Governor Reports

by OTTO KERNER

Five conferences on "Developing the Talents of Illinois Youth" are being held this month in five sections of the state. Superintendent of Public Instruction George Wilkins and I are joint sponsors of the conferences that have been or will be held in Chicago, Springfield, Rock Island, Charleston and Carbondale. Attending these conferences are community leaders in educational and professional fields, agriculture, business and civic organizations.

The purpose of these conferences is two-fold: (1) to provide information on the recommended state actions for the education of gifted children in Illinois schools, and (2) provide opportunities for discussion and critical reaction to the proposals which are being made.

In the past there has been a striking contrast between programs for the mentally and physically handicapped and those for our gifted children. As an example of this, during the 1960-61 school year, a well organized and comprehensive program of special education enrolled 118,646 pupils in Illinois schools. The program includes several types of exceptional children and receives a biennial appropriation of more than $16 million.

Soon after the 71st General Assembly in 1959, the Illinois School Problems Commission held hearings to examine proposals for gifted children. Following these hearings the commission recommended the establishment of a special study project. The major purpose of the project is to secure data, information and recommendations to assist the General Assembly to determine the following:

in providing for gifted children is needed and desired. The nature of such legislation;

Whether state funds should be appropriated for implementing such programs; and How a flexible state-wide plan might be developed to meet different education and socio-economic patterns of our school districts.

Subsequently, Superintendent Wilkins appointed an advisory committee of specially qualified educators to undertake a study and make recommendations.

The preliminary work is done. The purpose of these conferences is to outline the results of the surveys and analyses that are completed, to open the door for criticisms or recommendations and what action the people feel is appropriate for educating gifted children.

As this is a most comprehensive subject, which by its nature is of primary interest to all residents of our state, I will confine my report to it in the next several weeks.

Letters to the Editor

May 8, 1962

To Whom It May Concern:

On reading your paper of Thursday, May 3, 1962, my attention was drawn to the article on page 1, entitled, "Pubs Checked by Deputies," where you named several taverns, which were suspected of serving alcoholic beverages to minors. My attention was also drawn to the editorial on the following page, entitled, "The Corruptors," in which you stated that parents were irked over the numerous, so called, "Teen-age Boozie Palaces." I give up, what are boozie palaces? I have seen many taverns, but never a boozie palace.

At present I am old enough to be allowed in a tavern, but it was only one year ago that I was considered a minor (although I was married, and a parent myself), and really, remembering back from the time I was thirteen to the time I was twenty-one, I don't ever recall my parents having to be irate over the fact that I came home reeking of alcohol because of a teen-age boozie palace, if I wanted a drink, all I had to do was ask for it, or go out to the kitchen and make myself one. I feel that partly because of that liberty one or two drinks at a party, and only to be sociable, is my quota, as I personally can't stand the taste of any alcoholic.

But, to get back to the subject, I feel that if parents watched their children a little more closely, instead of depending on the general public to do their babysitting, and rather than condemn liquor, give their teen-agers a good stiff drink once, they'd have a lot less to worry about, and our law enforcing officers would be able to do something more important than check-up on minors whose parents can't handle them.

It just so happens that the night after the pub check, I was in one of the pubs named with a group in the 21 to 35 age group, and everything seemed quite all right. That is, except for some of the Antioch parents that were there, and they certainly weren't showing much of an example for the younger people. I could make quite a few heads of hair curl, and marriages end up in divorce if I mentioned any names, but that would accomplish nothing.

I say, stop degrading businesses and teen-agers, and start sweeping off the parents' back porches. How about the fathers and mothers who stumble out of taverns at closing time, who go bowling and come home in a fog of dizziness, who play cards and get noisy as well as plastered, who go to parties and sneak in at the wee hours all tanked up?

I see many of so-called prominent people, in no condition whatsoever to be seen by anyone under 25. But yet, blame the taverns so it doesn't hurt so much when your child comes home under the influence of alcohol. Don't look at yourself or your friends, because you just might see something you're not proud of, or are you too full of dignity and self-esteem to see yourselves as you are?

I claim to be no angel myself, but I certainly would blame no-one else for things that only I am responsible for. I certainly hope that when my son is in that age where he's old enough to know better, but too young to resist, that some of the common sense I will try to get through to him will win out, but if it doesn't, I hope that I will have the decency and common courtesy not to blame other people for my failings.

I don't know if you will print this or not, but I honestly believe it may help to make some of the parents stop and take a good long look at themselves. I did not write this for glory, and I have never voiced an opinion to a newspaper, magazine, congressman, or any other public run institution, but I could no longer sit by the wayside and let the world pass by.

Thank you,
Mrs. Hugh L. McCray

PENNING THE NEWS

I'm Sorry Madam, But... or Why Your Story May Not Be Used

When you give the editor a legitimate news story he appreciates it. Because of the complexity of the major news developments, both on the local and national scene, he must devote the bulk of his time to gathering, writing and editing those events.

He must, therefore, rely on the volunteer for all the other news that goes into making up an edition of the paper. Club news, society events, association events, births, deaths and many others.

"That's real nice," you say, "But why didn't my story get printed?"

Well, let's imagine yourself as a prospective news story and you have just been brought in and placed reverently at the editor's altar, his desk. Let's see what happens, or doesn't happen to you.

First of all he will read you through thoroughly with strict regard to news content and whether or not you will be of interest to his readers.

If, for example, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy is going to speak before the local Woman's Club, it's a pretty safe bet you will be used. On the other hand, if Mrs. Jackson has been recently appointed third vice-assistant on the committee for the prevention of bulb snatching, you will probably find your way quickly into the circular file.

Chances are that you will fall somewhere between these two extremes and the editor will decide that you have enough news value to start you on your way to print. What happens now? Well, if you are poorly written, you will have a layover until he gets around to re-writing you.

Again, we'll assume that everything goes well and you appear all dressed up in a new outfit, that is, typewritten, double spaced and in proper news style and form.

It should be mentioned here that many stories are discarded at this point because another story of equal value but well written, and in the style and form used by newspapers and consequently more easily processed, slipped in under the wire and beat you to the type setter.

Now, where were you? Oh, yes! Well, after you have been rewritten, (incidentally, you have a new name now; henceforth you will be called "copy") someone has to check you over for accuracy, spelling, punctuation, excess wordage, etc.

You are then taken back to the editor who will fix you up with a bonnet and a place to stay. He calls it, writing a headline and assigning you a place in the paper. So... you are sped merrily on your way to the typesetter where another change takes place.

You are no longer just a few typewritten words on a sheet of paper, but are ready for posterity, metal face and all. This is called type-setting.

It's been a long, hard struggle and you've finally made it, or have you? Not quite. You see, there are a bunch of funny little men in that back shop who spend their day putting together "jig-saw" puzzles. They are called make-up men.

This is your last obstacle. Make-up men are, by nature, a surly breed, made that way by years of trying to fit 4" stories into 3" spaces. If you are fortunate enough to be picked out as one of the first stories to go on the page you will not encounter this problem.

may be "held" and will appear in a later issue. Getting you back to real life now and off the sheet of paper, there are still other reasons why your story may not be used, but these are the most frequent occurrences.

Along The Way

with Annie Mae

So you've forgotten already! The first mild heat wave and all your complaints about the snow and cold of only two months ago have completely vanished from your memory. How quickly they have turned to words like, "Boy, it's hot!"

"It's the humidity that's so bad!" "What a scorcher!" Yes, I heard you last Monday. Better bottle it up kids, it'll be December again some day, and our friend Mather may predict another mild winter.

The hottest things this week were Doc Kopriva's fire-engine red jacket, and Walker Lyons' multi-colored deck pants. And they claim women's hats are C-R-A-Z-Y!

Have you noticed how the Ills and Hers crazy has taken over? First it was towels, then pillow cases, after that shirts and now here's the latest, Ills & Her businesses! Those who have become members of the "Club" are, Tom and Marion Pechousek, Robert and Pearl Taylor, Fran and Harold Cardiff, "Baby" and Bessie Keutman, Jackie and Casey Casella, and now Nick and Ellen Badame. Received a picture post card from Grandpa Les and the Pretty Widow from Roswell, N. M. They up and tied the knot and didn't even let me know. How about that? Many happy returns, and years, from Annie Mae anyway!

There's a new version to a recent hit song being sung around town: "You can tickle me on a Mon., a Tues., a Wed. etc., but never on a Sunday." Really Officers, you should have given those church goers fair warning about that new sign on Main street!

Aren't the sidewalk superintendents having a ball watching the new Jensen building go up on Lake St.? They really had a busy time the day the blacktopping was being done in the village parking lot, and the excavation on Lake St. Listen, "Supers", if you're getting bored with the building, the new sewer project is about to get under way and that ought to keep you busy all summer.

The annual luncheon for the Sisters of St. Peter's Parochial School, held at Joe & Helen's Little Acres, Monday brought forth a bevy of beautiful ladies, many of them proudly sporting their Mothers Day corsages.

It occurred to me as I watched a group of teen-agers doing the twist the other nite that these were the kids we bought the Hula-Hoops for! All they did was get rid of the hoop!

Special recognition for the Junior classmen at the High School who worked hard to set one of the prettiest and exquisite proms ever!

"Corky" and Peggy (Cardiff) Smith (or maybe you say Smyth) are the proud Papa and Mama of a 7 lb. boy.

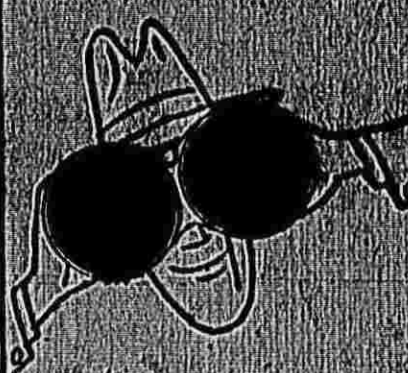

A note to our favorite Editor, Jay! "Even if that new car is a compact, don't try to fold it up."

See where the Roger Drijes are awaiting the arrival of a new model.

To Adam's Mate: Maplethorpe was a good guess, And Meyer as well, But I'm just like the daisies, I'll never tell.

THE ANTIOCH NEWS
THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1962

By Jay Nash

Oddly enough when the Chicago tourists begin their great migration to Antioch and the surrounding Lake Region resorts, the residents of the area flock to the Big City in search of the different, the new, the exciting.

Lake County regionalists have a wide variety of amusements to entertain them in the Windy City, but the craze this year, after gaining a decade's momentum, is to frequent those little pubs with the strange-sounding names and those little people with dark eyes and scraggly beards sitting in them.

Oldtown, which is rapidly changing from a low-rent district that used to attract artists to smartly-decorated brownstones of garish color and artistic door-knockers behind which resides the city's fronde of PR and advertising men, is the hub of the pub.

North Avenue offers a gamut of pubs just off Wells Street—The Oldtown Ale House—the first of its kind in Chicago with its bulletin boards loaded down with literary and artistic notices and its ever-changing gallery of artists-on-display, The Dram Shop—a walk-down pub where hot spiced wine is a specialty and chess boards are in abundance—The Culture Vulture, formerly The Blind Pig with its extemporaneous readings by daffy poets and sincere socialists fusing into a background of eye-searing orange decor and casual shrieks of ecstasy from its proprietor, Slim Brundridge and the Carta Blanca restaurant with its fine Mexican food and mystical eating rooms pitched into almost total darkness.

Wells Street itself hosts several niteries of note. Moody's Pub, where there is an open fireplace, abstract and modern art on its bare brick walls, attracts artists and writers. Next door, Chances R, a glorified hamburger parlor with peanut shells littering the floor, draws the lawyer-engineer-doctor crowd out for Saturday night's revelry. Down the street is The Rising Moon, a provocative night place transfigured from an artist's studio. The Moon boasts folk singers, a two story ceiling, and an unusual atmosphere of dense smoke, little light and strange noises.

Also on Wells, north of North Avenue is the well-established Oldtown Pump, where you are likely to run into several hard-working reporters from the daily newspapers. Also in that section is The Earl of Oldtown, a new cafe of worthy note which specializes in weird drinks, congenial atmosphere, the open hearth and music ranging from low to high-brow.

This colony of pubs is not only restricted to the Oldtown area but has spilled over into most parts of the city. In Evanston, Chicago's sister settlement, the No Exit Cafe Gallery of Foster Avenue professes imported coffees, folk music and chess tournaments.

Back in the northern areas of Chicago, The Fickle Pickle, It's Here and Small World flourish for those seeking the unusual and the bizarre.

All in all, the pubs are going strong, becoming social centers for the midwestern intellectual, entertainment areas for the midwestern tourist and innovative enterprises which highlight Chicago's characteristic makeup.

The decision of the Lake County Board of Supervisors last week to enter into an agreement with International Business Machines for the leasing of punch card computing equipment and other accounting machines was undoubtedly a sound step towards efficiency and economy, but it did open the way to a few questions and left a few of them unanswered.

Like what kind of "scrap" deal will be made for the $200,000 worth of special tax extension equipment purchased about five years ago? And which department, the County Treasurer or the County Clerk, will have jurisdiction over the new equipment? Or will there be a new central tax department created?

This latter suggestion was included in a report by a special fiscal study group a few months back and was greeted with something less than wild enthusiasm by County Clerk Gar Leaf and County Treasurer Hugo L. Schneider, Jr., who are charged by law with the tax extension, preparation of tax bills and the collection of taxes.

The report submitted to the County Board made no mention of the elected officials most intimately concerned with the type of equipment to be leased.

Of course, Schneider will be out of office by the time the equipment is in full use and it is reasonable to suppose his probable successor, Supervisor Karl Berning, of West Deerfield, is in full accord with the board's action.

The report failed to mention whether or not bids were taken on the equipment or if other equipment in the same field developed by other firms was investigated to determine if it would accomplish the same tasks as the IBM machines.

County Board Chairman Robert Dickson, who studied the automation possibilities as a member of the board's Finance Committee, insists that other firms were asked to submit proposals, but the equipment and proposals fell short of the IBM plan. No doubt the board didn't have to ask for formal bids because it would be almost impossible to prepare specifications and besides, the supervisors weren't buying anything, they were just entering into a $50,000 a year lease plan.

Lake County Republican precinct committeemen were slated to meet last night (Wednesday) to settle on a GOP nominee for State Senator in the Aug. 14 special election to fill the Senate vacancy created by the resignation of Congressional nominee Robert McClory.

The best bet is that State Rep. Robert E. Caulson would be the choice and would be unopposed in the primary. The next step will be to meet with Boone and McHenry County committeemen and have them "ratify" the choice of the Lake County central committee.

Central Committee Chairman Bob Milton bent over backwards, no mean feat for him, to give the impression that the choice of candidates would be a three county operation, but if Lake County has made its choice by the time the three counties meet in convention, the convention voting will be as meaningless as a campaign promise of economy.

During the recent primary campaign it seemed that all the candidates were honored at testimonial dinners, but apparently a couple were overlooked.

Friends of Sen McClory are dining out at the Waukegan Inn on May 21 and on May 29 many of these same friends and a scattering of others will gather about the festive board at the Adria Restaurant to say all manner of nice things about Hugo L. Schneider, Jr.

If anyone has any leftover testimonial dinner tickets and dates and is looking for someone for whom to have a benefit we can furnish at least one suggestion.

Has anyone else ever had the feeling that there are too many lawyers in public life and particularly on the Republican Central Committee?

It looks like meetings of the committee in the future will develop into parliamentary parlor games and forensic forums.

There may be much accomplished, but what is done will be carried out in proper legal double talk.

Use your head when you shop for a "new-size" car

The air is filled with claims about the so-called "new-size" cars—the ones that have finally caught up with Rambler Classic's size, but with little else.

Just use your head and you'll discover sizeable differences. Slide into the front seat and you'll find much more headroom in the Rambler Classic (actually more than Cadillac!). Full and ample room for six big and well-padded 6-footers.

You get better performance because Rambler is ahead in both horsepower and passing power. And any Rambler owner will tell you how much he saves on gasoline.

Care about quality? Every Rambler has Double-Safety Brakes—of all U. S. cars, only Cadillac has a similar system. Only Rambler gives you Deep-Dip rust-proofing up to the roof. Only Rambler spares you the expense of replacing rusted-out mufflers and tailpipes—Rambler's are Ceramic-Armored.

Horan Speaks Before Class

Leon, teacher and this year's baseball coach, asked a student, James Dupre, to contact Horan for the speech.

Horan's speech was entitled "My Experiences in World War I". He recalled his service with the U. S. Army of that period for the class, explaining the differences of the army then as compared to the present day fighting force.

Elements of his conversation included the fact that upon induction into an army camp in 1918 each soldier was given a bag and then was told to fill it with straw or the like. That was his mattress during training.

After Horan's speech, a fifteen minute question-answer period followed.

Scouts Finish Forest Jaunt

Boy Scout troops 80 (Grass Lake), 86 (Channel Lake), 91, 92 (Antioch) participated in their long-awaited field trip to the Kettle Moraine Forest in upper Wisconsin last week.

The scouts, going as guests of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club studied conservation on the trip, especially all facets of trees and reforestation.

Man-worked forests, planted as seedlings 28 years ago by other Boy Scouts; natural springs bubbling sweet, cold water; man-protected birds and wildlife greeted the scouts on their educational tour.

The scouts were lectured on the history, care and importance of preserving the forest by Max von Dahlen, Director of the Scuppernon Ranger Station where the group assembled.

After a cook-out, a 2½ mile hike was completed by the boys. Leaders of the group are Richard Waters, President; Dr. George W. Jensen, Treasurer; Harry H. Sterns, Publicity Director and other members of the NICC.

Sterns stated that "the parents and leaders of these boys have good reason to be proud of them. Their conduct was exemplary at all times while they were having a ball on this trip." The effects of this trip were so good, the NICC is planning more outings along these lines.

Lindenhurst Driver Hurt In Spectacular Smash-Up

The 1961 Track Champion, Bill Strom of West Allis, Wis., had things his own way again Sunday evening as the official 1962 season of modified and sportmen stock car racing had its season debut before 2,450 enthusiastic fans at the Waukegan Speedway that evening.

driving a '69 Buick powered 1965 Chevrolet, took the lead on the 7th lap and was never again headed.

Favorite driver, Bob Karry, of Waukegan and Lindenhurst, driving his familiar number A-5, a '62 Chevy powered 1934 Ford was involved in one of the speedway's most spectacular crashes during the running of the 25 lap feature event. Karry's mount was involved in an entanglement with Milwaukee driver Doug Bandle while the two were coming out of the south turn in the ninth lap. Karry's car came sideways, and started to barrel roll, rolling at least eight times down the back chute before settling to a stop at the center of the chute. The car landed on its side and Karry, shaken and bruised, was rushed to St. Therese's Hospital where he was to remain overnight for observation. His injuries did not appear to be serious.

The event was restarted after the track was cleared of debris and Strom went on to win the event at an average speed of 49.87 mph. Jack Radtke of Grayslake finished second an eighth of a lap behind Strom, while 1958 and '59 champion Eddie Stillman of Milwaukee took a close third.

Radtke sets 10 Lap Record. Radtke, driving a '62 Chevy powered 1934 Ford, set a new ten lap track record in winning the third heat event of the night at an average speed of 52.79 mph, erasing the former mark of 51.58 mph set last year by Miles Mellus of Slinger in the same car that Radtke is now driving.

Jim Ouellette of Hales Corners, Wis., won the first ten lap heat event of the night and of the year. The night's fastest qualifier, Don Sorco of West Allis, (53.18 mph) had the misfortune to tangle on the first lap of the feature and hit the wall, placing 18th at the final tally.

Rod Fuller of Racine took top honors in coping the year's first semi-feature event at an average speed of 49.68 mph.

Fans were treated to plenty of other action in all events as the first program drew a total of some 50 cars and drivers. Glen Eichmann of Lake Zurich flipped his car two complete times while leading the sportmen's feature event on the third lap, and Gene Southern of Waukegan while trying for second place later in the event bumped Harley Wilkenson of Twin Lakes out of the running by flipping his car (Wilkenson's) one time. Wayne Mayfield of Mundelein emerged the victor.

The crowd contributed to a driver's prize purse of $1,330. The second Sunday evening program of modifieds and sportmen Stock Car racing will be held May 20 with time trials beginning at 7:15 and the first of the racing getting under way at 8:30.

Bill Strom of West Allis, Wis., winner of last Sunday's opening program and the 1961 Waukegan speedway champion, will be back to protect his slim point lead in the new battle for the track championship.

ATHS Wins Golf Meet

ATH Golf Coach, Stuart Good reported Monday that the high school's golf team won the new Northwest Conference in that sport at the Spring Valley Golf Club. The team's overall winning score was 341.

Following hotly on the tail of the winners were Lake Forest with 344 and Grayslake with 348.

Les Miller of Antioch shot an individual score of 78. John Skorupa, representing Elia-Vernon, shot the same score for a tie. Each won individual honors.

John Lear of Antioch also won individual 3rd place honors with Lake Forest's Nisbet and Rockenback of Grayslake. All three shot 83.

In their second year of competition, the Antioch team produced four high scoring players—Miller, Lear and Rick Ripley, all sophomores, and Don Oelerich, freshman.

Show by Power Squadron Here

The Waukegan Power Squadron of the USPS, winner of the 1961 "N CLUB" Award, will demonstrate a practical application of its Piloting Course May 20, at the Third Lake Regatta being held by the Chain O' Lakes Boat Club.

The demonstration which is designed to illustrate safe and proper small boat handling will be scheduled between races. In addition, a boating information clinic will be conducted during the regatta by members of the Waukegan Power Squadron.

All regatta spectators with questions pertaining to boat safety or the U. S. P. S. FREE Piloting Classes can have them answered at the Waukegan Power Squadron Display, or write Ed Delong, Squadron Education Officer, 1206 North Ave., Waukegan.

Sequoias Lose To Grayslake

The Sequoias were shut out 6-0 in their recent baseball fray with Grayslake last week.

Winner of the game was Ram hurler Williams. Taking the loss for Antioch was Bill Ozga. Hits by Antioch were scored throughout the contest by Enis, Ozga, Blackman and Wojczynski.

Although the Sequoias were beaten, Coach Larry Leon stated that he felt the game to be one of the best played by the ATH squad this season. He also added that Ozga's attempt to stem the league-leading Grayslake tide was the best performance of any Antioch pitcher this season.

At the time of this writing the Wauconda and Lake Forest results were still unknown.

Larry Leon Resigns as ATH Basketball Coach

Larry Leon, for seven years the head Baseball and Basketball coach of Antioch Township High School with a 1959 Northwest Suburban Championship and three other second class teams under his belt, recently announced his resignation from ATHS in order to become the Varsity Basketball coach at Libertyville High School.

The Libertyville position had been open since early April and Leon was chosen from over 30 applicants. The vacancy was left by the resignation of Ken Greene, former Basketball coach at Libertyville.

Libertyville enjoyed a 14-7 record last season and Leon will have the benefit of four returning lettermen. The Libertyville squad placed fourth in their North Suburban Conference last season and Leon will take on what he terms "a real rugged schedule" this coming season. Thornton, LaGrange, North Chicago, Auburn of Rockford and Highland Park will be some of the opponents he will have to face.

The thirty-one year old coach will move to Libertyville this summer with his wife Carmen and their three children, Bobby, 6; Susan, 4½, and Jeff, 3.

Leon, who started his

coaching career as a sophomore coach at Marseilles, came to Antioch in 1954. He holds a master's degree and has been teaching American history at Antioch High. He will probably teach social studies in addition to coaching varsity basketball, and assisting at one or two other sports.

Leon stated that he was "moving to a community that thinks in terms of the family but I still regret leaving Antioch. I hope to be able to get as high caliber of boy at Libertyville as I have had here." Speaking of his close association with his previous Antioch teams, Leon added, "In the seven years I've been here, every boy has acted as a high class individual. I'm proud of them all."

When asked about his former successes, Leon said that "My success can be attributed to hard work and desire on the part of the boys who made me very happy. These seven years will be years I will always remember as most enjoyable."

Leon's anticipated successor as Head Varsity Basketball Coach will most probably be Roger Andrews, the present Track Coach. Baseball, also handled by Leon, is expected to be handled by the comparatively new coach Bruce Stahmer.

The school board will deliberate upon these appointments.

Bowling Awards Given At Lindenhurst Feast

By Mrs. Bernice Bernau

The Lindenhurst Men's Bowling League banquet was held Saturday at Joe & Helen's, Loon Lake. Sixty bowlers, their wives, sponsors and guests attended. This was the fifth annual dinner.

Harry Romani walked off with three trophies. One was for his 278 high game scratch; another for his 663 high series scratch and another for his 744 high individual series with handicap. Arthur Heindl was close behind with a 276 game scratch.

Claude Anderson was the league's high individual bowler. He received a trophy for his 181 average. He bowls on the Saddle Inn team.

Hugh Myers received an award for being the most improved bowler. He was 11 pins above last year's average. Everett Standiford was right behind him with 10 pins above last year's average.

The boys on Saddle Inn team each received a trophy, along with their sponsor, Terry and John Peacock. The "hot-shots" are Arthur Heindl, Claude Anderson, Russ Carlson, Everett Standiford and Jim Wray. They won 67 games.

Second place team, Lake Villa Pharmacy, and their sponsors Joan and Bill Krater, received a team award. Neuhauer, John Walsh, Bill Guzski and Ed Boyle. They won 58½ games.

Joe & Helen's, the third place winners, lost second place by just one game—they had 57½ wins. Their sponsor, Joe Sterbenz, received a trophy. Chuck Reinhart, Wally Saran, Jack Lund, Stan Puzakin and Bob Clark made up the team.

Bob Karry accepted the trophy for fourth place team. Karry's team consists of Fred LaChance, Earl Sorenson, Ed Schneider, Jerry Dussel and Bob Brauer. They had 65 wins. Wolff's Resort lost a trophy by a half game, 54½, and Florio's Pizzeria by one game, 54 wins.

Your correspondent received honorable mention for keeping the papers posted.

Viewing a hundred feet of movies of the bowlers in action, was another highlight of the evening. When the lights went on again, it was discovered the film was on the floor.

One of our fair ladies received a "cold reception" when the waitress going through the crowded, narrow aisles, dropped a sherbert down her back.

Chuck Reinhart, the league president, did a fine job of MCing. He thanked the other officers for their help the past season. Bob Scharz was the vice-president; John Selzer and Joe LaBarbara were trustees; Arthur Neuhauer the treasurer; and Art Heindl, secretary.

The 1962-63 officers are Steve Krakowski, president; Arthur Heindl, vice-president; John Walsh, secretary; Art Neuhauer, treasurer; Bob Speigl and Ed Boyle are trustees.

Fort Sheridan to Display Troopers

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill.—This Army fort which Chicagoans asked for 75 years ago so that troops would be available to help police quell riots, will go on public display in modern dress for Armed Forces Day Saturday, May 19.

Fort Sheridan's role in support of the Chicago-Gary-Milwaukee air defense will be spotlighted during the open house from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The modern electronic equipment and Nike missiles sharply contrasting with displays of photographs, uniforms and weapons of earlier days at Sheridan.

The Post is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee during 1962, commemorating the opening of the reservation in 1887, just one year after the tragic Haymarket riot had shaken Chicagoans into demanding that federal troops be stationed nearby.

In addition to the Open House program for the public, the spring meeting of retired members of the Army in Northern Indiana and Illinois is scheduled for the morning hours. About 600 Army "alumni" usually attend this annual briefing to hear senior officers discuss the latest developments in Army weaponry, equipment, organization and training. Major General Lloyd R. Moses, acting commanding general of Fifth U.S. Army, will be the principal speaker.

The Fort Sheridan chapter of the association of the U.S. Army will also be meeting here on Armed Forces Day. The Association, which functions as a "Voice of the Army," is composed of present members of the active Army, former members and civilians interested in maintaining Army strength and prestige. The group will meet at noon Saturday, May 19, in the Fort Sheridan Officers Open Mess.

The open house program, beginning at 10 a.m., will give the public, including prospective Army members and their parents, a chance to see how the men and women on an Army post live and work and play.

The Post Museum will be a point of interest at this year's Armed Forces Day open house. Former Army members stationed at the Post have contributed scores of pictures, historical information and reminiscences of life at "Old Fort Sheridan." Some of the material dates back before the turn of the century. It has been added to the rich storehouse of history which is located beneath Fort Sheridan's picturesque Tower, a north suburban landmark since it was erected in 1891.

A group of members of the Fort Sheridan Detachment of the Women's Army Corps will be stationed at the Museum during the day to escort visitors.

Elsewhere on the Post, offices and shops of the various technical services will be opened to the public, with military guides to explain the operations. Most activities support the Nike sites of Fifth Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command and Headquarters, Fifth U.S. Army at Chicago.

Miss Dorothy Olson returned home from "those far away places with the strange sounding names" last Tuesday, May 8.

Dorothy began an eight-month trip through parts of the Far East and Europe last fall, leaving New York on September 21. The first 75 days of her trip were by freighter. Among other places, she visited Bombay, Formosa, Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Viet Nam. In Bombay, she saw a primitive open-air laundry in operation, with about 200 men and women workers laundering clothes in long troughs, slapping the wet, soaped clothes against stone pillars to clean them. She visited many countries in Europe, and spent three months in England. In the months she spent in England, they never had a foggy day, contrary to legend.

Dorothy and her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Olson, plan to travel to Tucson, Ariz., soon, to visit Mrs. Carl Flowers, the former Marianne Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mitchell are the parents of a baby girl, Laura Ann, born May 10, in St. Theresa Hospital. Laura Ann weighed six pounds, 14 ounces, and has a sister, Allison.

Twenty eighth grade pupils will graduate from the Channel Lake school on Thursday, May 31, at 8 p.m. Richard Harland, president of the Board of Education, will deliver the graduation address and hand out the diplomas. The Junior Choir of the school will perform for the occasion.

The graduating class will take a trip to Chicago on May 29 for dinner and a movie. The class has financed the affair from proceeds of various dances and entertainment they have held.

The sixth, seventh and eighth grades of Channel Lake school are taking a field trip on May 17 to the Museum of Science and Industry.

The Channel Lake Community Club voted to sponsor a Teen-Age Club at its meeting.

The Guided Missile Maintenance Shop of the Post Ordnance section will be open for the first time this year, showing the electronic brains used to test for malfunctions in missiles and their guidance systems, including the new, far-ranging Hercules.

Another Ordnance Section attraction will be the Ordnance Museum, which has explosive projectiles dating back to the Civil War.

The Post Signal Section will be ready to show off its modern signal Photographic Laboratory, the Fifth Army Communications System (STARCOM) station and the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS), the latter a network of Army amateur radio operators linked with civilian amateurs around the world.

The Provost Marshal (Fort Sheridan's "chief of police") will display modern criminal investigation equipment. The barracks of the Post's 204th Military Police Company will be open, showing a typical living quarters with its day room and TV room.

The Post Engineer will present a display of earth moving and other equipment, and the Post Surgeon will throw open the Dispensary, which provides outpatient care.

The Special Service facilities—Service Club, Library, Craft Shops and gymnasium—also will be available for public inspection.

The Nike Ajax missile launching area, manned by Battery D, 1st Missile Battalion, 202nd Artillery, will be on display by the Illinois National Guardsmen who man the site.

The 5th Army Flight Detachment will show various types of Army aircraft during the day.

Bus transportation will be furnished to points of interest without charge.

Prices and Wages Up, But So is Inflation Also

Maurice W. Scott, Executive Secretary, Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, today called attention to the fact that inflation acts as a heavy tax on the unsuspecting taxpayer whose money income is increasing. He noted that as prices and wages go up, families land in higher tax brackets, but usually have less purchasing power.

The Federation recalled that the consumer price index set a new record in February, so you paid $128.60 that month to buy a typical assortment of goods and services which cost you only $100 in 1947-49.

Scott quoted from a study just completed by Tax Foundation, Inc., Federal research organization with which the Federation is associated, that indicates that while the total money income of an average production worker, with a wife and two children, doubled in the period 1947-1960, his income tax liability rose nearly four times in current dollars.

In 1947 this worker's total money income was $3,031. By 1960, it had risen to $6,020. Thus, says the Foundation, his money income increased $2,589, or about 85 per cent over 1947.

But meanwhile his income tax liability increased from $138.32 in 1947 to $531.00 in 1960, a jump of almost $400, or 284 per cent, because he had gone into a higher tax bracket.

The reason is not that tax rates rose significantly. The first bracket rate, 20 per cent in 1947, is still 20 per cent today (and was in 1960). But because exemptions under the income tax do not go up with inflation, a much larger part of his income became subject to the first bracket rate.

"Inflation," Scott concluded, "is not 'creeping,' as some authorities say, but will surely be 'running,' if the Federal government continues to spend beyond its income."

Expressway Mania; A Driver's Dilemma

By Pearl Kapell
The dubious delights of motoring on some of the super-highways in our locality, and the behavior of the drivers who use these highways, have been a matter of wonder and fascination to me for some time. And of those I've seen, I believe Manic Alley, commonly known as the Congress Street Expressway, is the most amazing.

You may remember that it took a long time to complete this comparatively short stretch of highway. Many excuses were given for the slowness of its progress. Now that it's been completed for some time, and I've had time to study this little game of Russian roulette played with cars, I have my own theory as to why it was so long in the making.

Remember when the population explosion was our worry of the week? Calamity cries had us all convinced that we would soon be standing knee to knee, fighting to keep from being pushed off into the ocean by new additions to the human race. Some early prophets of this belief took his own predictions seriously (a sad error for any human to commit) undoubtedly designed the Congress Street Expressway as an experiment in solving the problem. Work had to be halted repeatedly as new ideas to add to the hazards popped into this Mad Designer's head and had to be incorporated into the plans. The finished product of this experiment is daily making considerable headway in solving the problem of our fast-growing population.

The first time you come on to the Expressway, you try to merge cautiously with the fast-moving traffic. No one slows to let you in. You are confronted by a solid wall of traffic hurtling recklessly forward. In a very few feet, you run out of merging lane.

You pray, and force your car in where there seems to be no place for it. If you're lucky, someone moves over and you squeeze in. Don't bother to draw a deep breath of relief. There isn't time. A car is roaring in behind you, the car in front is pulling away, and a huge truck plunges at you from a merging lane on your right. You can't move to the left—there's a car there. Just set your teeth, swerve the three inches you have to spare, and step on the gas. You'll probably make it.

The speed signs on the Expressway read "Minimum 40 M.P.H." It is to laugh. I dare anyone to drive down the expressway at that speed. You would have as much chance as a man strolling casually along in the midst of a herd of stampeding cows.

The maniac (or maniacs) who designed this marvel of efficiency in transportation, added a little zest to the dangerous game by throwing in numerous feed-ins. It seems that you just pass one, and another pops up, with more happy motorists roaring recklessly into the fray. So you inch into the next lane to get out of the line of direct fire. And your exit is coming up. How to get back into the right-hand lane? It's simple. Speed up till your bumper touches that of the car ahead of you, swerve right as though you meant it, and, if you're lucky, someone will chicken out and you can squeeze in.

If you aren't lucky, there will be one of those multi-car accidents for which the Expressway is famous. There is never a two-car accident on this road—it's impossible. Let two cars collide, and there is bound to be side-swiping all over the place. It's exhilarating. And when there's an accident, there is, of necessity, a traffic jam of monumental proportions. One of these traffic jams at night is a beautiful sight, with headlights stretching for miles. And when the rubble is removed, and the cop springs to safety screaming, "Go!" the lead cars leap from position with a roar, panting and jockeying for position, and the whole mess sweeps onward, perhaps to another accident, perhaps to crawl off into their various side-streets, where each driver climbs from his car at his destination shaking and muttering. But he has probably saved thirty minutes, so he'll try it again tomorrow. Who dares to say Americans aren't as brave and reckless as they used to be?

Today many families can have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning for less than half the cost of a compact car

Here's how it can make your home a haven from heat, dust, pollens and humidity

Most folks are pleasantly surprised when they find out what it costs today to have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning. Just since 1947 the average unit cost for electric systems has decreased by about one-third. This means that if you have a typical 6-room home, it can be a haven from heat, dust, pollens, noise and humidity for less than half the cost of a compact car (even less if you're building a new home).

YOU GET A LOT MORE THAN COOL

Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning is sleeping in comfort, cooking in comfort, eating in comfort, and relaxing afterwards in comfort. It's living in comfort—all through the house, all summer long.

Cooling is only part of the story. Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning: wrings excess moisture out of the air. It filters dust out of the air so that housework is easier, and you need to redecorate less often. It keeps bugs out because you can leave your windows shut. And allergy sufferers suffer less because it picks up to 99% of the pollens out of the air. It helps husbands because they don't have to change storm windows.

Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning soothes tempers, saves wives, makes for happier, healthier kids and families.

It's a little like taking your house to the beach for the summer. Only no sand.

WHY ELECTRIC AIR CONDITIONING?

Air conditioning your whole house electrically has many advantages in addition to lower first cost.

Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning needs less maintenance. It takes less room. No water is needed, and this is important not only because water costs money but because in some communities water-cooled units are not usually permitted without an expensive water-saving device.

Electric systems are far more versatile, too. They include models that work well with every type of heating system. And if you have forced air heat, you may already have most of the ductwork you need for Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning. This can represent a sizeable saving on installation cost.

WHAT WILL IT COST TO OPERATE?

With your new reduced electric rates for this period, you can have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning in a typical 6-room house in this area for as little as 30 cents a day. And you can count on about 90 days out of the year when you'll want it on. Quite naturally costs will vary some.

what according to the construction and location of your home. If you live on a shady street and have ample insulation, your cost will be less than if you live in open country.

In any event, you'll find you spend a good bit less for cleaning rugs, draperies, curtains, clothes, and for painting and decorating when you have Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning.

No one can give you more than a rough guess about either installation or operating costs without a careful look at your home. But you can have an accurate estimate made, without cost or obligation, by calling your Air-Conditioning Contractor, Dealer or Department Store.

HOW WHOLE-HOUSE ELECTRIC AIR CONDITIONING WORKS

Though it might seem complicated, Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning isn't difficult to understand in operation. Air is drawn into the cooling system and pulled through a filter to remove dust, pollens and insects. This cleaned air then passes over a cooling coil which removes heat and excess moisture. The condensed moisture is drained away. The clean, cool, dehumidified air is circulated through your home.

HOW TO MAKE FINANCING ALMOST PAINLESS

If you are building a new home, you can include Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning as part of your regular FHA or conventional mortgage.

If you wish to air condition your present home, there are several ways to finance. Add the cost to an open-end mortgage if you have one. Get an FHA Title I Home Improvement Loan. Or get a short-term loan from your bank or other lending institution. Many dealers in this area also handle financing right along with the sale.

Spread over the years, Whole-House Electric Air Conditioning is a mighty low-cost way to have a permanent vacation from heat, dust, pollens and humidity. And you can't help but improve the resale value of your home with this addition.

Coulson is Boomed for McClory's Senate Seat

William H. Rentschler, Lake Forest businessman and Illinois Republican leader, today announced the formation of a committee of citizens urging the nomination of State Rep. Robert Coulson for the seat in the Illinois senate vacated by the resignation of State Senator Robert McClory. Republican nominee for Congress from the 12th Congressional District.

"Bob Coulson has superb credentials for the job," Rentschler said. "He is the logical Republican choice, a man of wide experience in state and local government whom we can recommend with unrestrained enthusiasm to the people of the 62nd Senatorial District."

"We are impressed by the spontaneous support for Bob Coulson's candidacy from men and women representing every key segment of the Republican Party in this area. We believe Bob Coulson is the only potential candidate who can unify the party and add substantially to the strength of the whole ticket in November," Rentschler said.

Rentschler, president of Stevens Candy Kitchen, Inc. and 1960 candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator, named the following as charter members of the Coulson Committee:

Gen. William H. Wilbur, (Ret.), of Highland Park, lecturer, author, and anti-Communist leader; Emerson T. Chandler, Lake Forest attorney; James M. Wetzel, Deerfield attorney, Young Republican leader and candidate for Congress in the recent primary; John J. Noel, Mayor of Mundelein.

Richard Bairstow, Waukegan, partner in the law firm of McClory, Bairstow, Anderson and Lonchar, and chairman Waukegan Township Republican organization; Francis J. Berry, president Village of Libertyville; Mrs. Rose D. Stragusa, Jr., Lake Forest, Junior Republican Committeewoman from Illinois; F. J. Sherwin, Sr., president Chicago Hardware Foundry Co., North Chicago; Wesley M. Dixon, Jr., president G. D.

Searle International; B. Botsford Young, Lake Bluff, sales executive; Mrs. George Lilley, Highland Park, president Highland Park Women's Republican Club, and Mrs. Gerritt A. Rutgers, Lake Bluff, past president Women's Republican Club of Lake Forest-Lake Bluff.

The special primary election, called for Aug. 7 by Gov. Otto Kerner, was requested when Sen. McClory resigned with two years remaining of his term after winning the Congressional nomination in the April 10 primary.

Rep. Coulson ran a solid second in the eight-man race for Congress and topped the field in Lake County.

Rentschler urged residents of Lake, McHenry and Boone counties to indicate their support by writing or phoning Robert Coulson, 1031 Pacific Ave., Waukegan, (Phone-ONTario 2-8623).

Kerner Announces Election Change

Gov. Otto Kerner announced today that the date of the primary election in the 49th and 52nd Senatorial Districts has been changed to Aug. 14. It was originally announced for Sept. 11.

The special election to fill vacancies in these two districts has been called to conform with the regular 1962 election date, Tuesday, Nov. 6.

In announcing the earlier date for the primary, Gov. Kerner said: "After further consultation with the Secretary of State's Office, I believe the mechanics of the election—certification of candidates by the Electoral Board to the county clerks—will proceed more smoothly and efficiently if the primary is held August 14. If it were held on the later date, as originally announced, it might require the printing of special ballots, an expense which would be unwarranted."

PLAN IT

"There is a lot of talk about area development and it seems plain that everyone is for it but I must confess I don't know just exactly what it means."

"You hear a lot of vague generalities and there are a lot of 'uh-huh's' but if you pin me down, I'll have to say I don't know what they're talking about."

"It seems to me, there ought to be some sort of plan or goal and until there is, I don't see what we are battling our gums about."

"I can see that area development can mean different things to different towns, but there is one thing it probably should mean to every town and that is community beautification."

"There needs to be a plan, first. And until there is a plan, there can be little expectation of any progress at all."—Tuscola Journal.

Easter Seal Drive Collects $14,000 in Lake County Area

Antioch residents have contributed $611.29 to the Easter Seal campaign conducted by the Lake County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults. It was announced today by Lou Durkin, Easter Seal campaign chairman. A special thank you is extended to all those who helped collect and all contributors.

The county-wide fundraising effort has brought in $14,000 to date, considerably below the announced goal of $25,000 but substantial mail returns are coming in daily to the Citizens National Bank in Waukegan. Durkin reminds those who received a request for funds through the mail, that it is not too late to report.

In announcing the preliminary figures on the campaign Durkin said, "Although we are far short of our goal the Lake County Easter Seal Society is gratified at the response of those people who were contacted during the drive."

Special gifts from individuals, business firms, and organizations which have been especially earmarked for the purchase of equipment for the treatment center at 709 North Ave. will make it possible to expand the operation and offer greater service to the people of Lake County.

Its reliability is probably its greatest single asset

When you build a quality truck, the inclination is to run around asking users what they think of it. We do quite a bit of this.

It's a funny thing. You'd think people would talk mostly about the mechanical features of the vehicle—the good ride, its power, the double-wall construction, cab comfort, or tough tailgate.

These things get comment, of course, but they're consistently outnumbered by expressions of satisfaction with the dependability of a Chevrolet truck. Its greatest single asset seems to be the fact that it does its job well day after day without a lot of fuss or attention—and that's what improves people the most.

Quality is the key to reliability. The next time you have to buy a truck, call your Chevrolet dealer and make your money go farther.
